Study Abroad at Brandeis
Engage, Explore, Expand, Excite
Unique Population

• Rough 40% of junior class studying abroad; 50% of graduating class with an international experience (counting non-credit options)
• Strong focus on social justice, community service and experiential learning including internships, research projects and field work
• Increasing pull toward European destinations; language interest decreasing
• A few Brandeis-Led Programs in Bangalore, Copenhagen, The Hague, and Siena
• ⅕ of all students international; uneven mirroring of the campus ethnicity makeup
Majors/ Minors

Integrating the academic experience for liberal arts students

Unique course counting pulls fewer credits in during abroad period
Fall 2015
Re-Entry Program
Business as usual...
Fall 2015

• Garnering student attention upon return; staying relevant; different durations
• Standard Re-entry Programming focusing on:
  • actively debriefing time away; connecting with fellow returnees
  • encouraging reflection both personally and academically
  • integrating your experience back into Brandeis
  • Thinking about next steps with Hiatt and Fellowships
• Offering workshops on resume & interviewing techniques
• Anecdotal Results; Feedback indicated programming lacking usefulness
Updating a Re-Entry Program
Reasons to Update

Re-entry to the University

Connect their experiences abroad to skills employers are seeking

Articulate skills beyond, “It as awesome!”

Spring 2016 Re-Entry Program

Opportunity to practice translating their skills and talking about their experiences.

Study abroad is interest to any employer creating a multi-cultural, team-oriented, flexible problem-solving workplace! Reflect on one skill set and practice providing a description with evidence for acquiring that skill and its applicability to work or school. Provide an example highlighting: location, an activity, skill(s), and outcome(s)

EXAMPLE: By studying and living (activity) in Cuba (location) I can now communicate well in Spanish (skill), I am confident about living and traveling independently (skill) and have an understanding of history, economics and politics in Latin America (skill) that will be a firm foundation for future work analyzing regional relationships (outcome).
Discussion

• How does your organization/ institution currently integrate students back into the home community?
• What key elements are necessary to assist students in integrating their overseas experiences?
• What creative approaches might you implement to reach this current generation of students in future re-entry programming?
Thank You
