COURSE DESCRIPTION

Sport holds a central role in the development of the Australian character and identity, through the interaction with the expanse of the new environment of the early settlers, evolving during the colonial era of the nineteenth century. Sport helped forge and provides a focus for Australian nationalism whether that be individual achievements or as a team, projecting Australians internationally on the global sporting stage. This course studies sport in Australian culture, the historical context, through to its importance in today's Australian society. Sport as a reflection of the masculine mono culture Australian identity of 19th Century and early 20th Century through to diversity of modern Australia multi-culturalism, indigenous recognition and social structures will be studied. Themes covered in this course include volunteerism, gender, race, ethnicity, sexuality, amateurism and professionalism, globalisation, integrity in sport (drugs in sport, influence of gambling on results, gene manipulation and bio medical enhancements) trends and challenges to the future of sport including doping in sport, rise of corporitisation of sport, innovation and technology impact on sport and the impact on Australian sport of the current the "Asian Century."

COURSE OBJECTIVES

1. Evaluate historical context of prominence of Australian sport and relationship with the socio economic development of the nation.
2. Appreciate the impact of place and Australian spaces on sporting and cultural life, including the beach/surf, the bush, suburbia.
3. Understand the role of sport and recreation in community building.
4. Appreciate the role of ethics, integrity, power and equity in sporting contexts.
5. Discern how sport is shaped by social differences and inequality such as income, gender, ethnicity, religion, disability, sexuality and education.
6. Explain the differences, and identify tensions between the traditional model of amateur sport and the emerging model of professionalism, globalization and sport as a commodity in Australia.
7. Explore the future of Australian sport, influence of the Asian century on Australian Sport and influences of emerging social and cultural trends.

METHODOLOGY

This course follows a weekly face-to-face seminar based structure in class. During the seminar, lecture material will be delivered with case studies used in written and video format as a point of group class discussion. This will highlight major concepts and theories to be applied to current real world situations. Guest speakers with practical specialized knowledge will attend the seminar to deliver presentations. Field trips will allow students to experience Australian sporting organizations in context, meet members of sports organizations to hear and ask first hand questions. The online platform CAPA Canvas will supplement learning with printed and video learning materials and resources. Canvas will be used to foster online interaction and discussion between students, staff and guest presenters.

COURSE PREREQUISITES

No previous requirements or pre-requisites are required. This course assumes a basic level of knowledge of sports. Students from a variety of backgrounds and interests are encouraged to take this class. Students will find the course provides a good foundation for internships and further studies in cultural studies, public policy, business, marketing or global studies.

A-	90-92	Achievement that is significantly above the level necessary to meet course requirements.
B+	87-89
B	83-86
B-	80-82	Achievement that meets the course requirements in every respect.
C+	77-79
C	73-76
C-	70-72	Achievement that is worthy of credit even though it fails to meet fully the course requirements.
D+	67-69
D	60-66
F	0-59	Represents failure (or no credit) and signifies that the work was either (1) completed but at a level of achievement that is not worthy of credit or (2) was not completed and there was no agreement between the instructor and the student that the student would be awarded an I.

SUMMARY OF HOW GRADES ARE WEIGHTED

Participation & tutorial presentations	20%
Field Trip Report	30%
Group Report	30%
Group Presentation	20%
Overall grade	100%

ASSESSMENT DETAILS

CLASS PARTICIPATION AND TUTORIAL PRESENTATIONS (20%)

Each week, your Lecturer will look for lively discussion and debate. You are expected to read the appropriate material listed in the class schedule before each class. This is a mark for participation, NOT attendance (which is compulsory).

In addition, each week, one student will be asked to precis the additional readings set for the week and relate the weekly topic to an item of current affairs drawn from a recent (within the preceding month) media report in the press. You must find a relevant article through your own research. During class we will discuss the issues raised in the articles, their relevance for sport in society and policy implications. Assessment will be based on the demonstrated level of understanding of key concepts, the overall professionalism of the presentation, and the relevance of the news item as explained by the presenter.

FIELD TRIP REPORT (30%)

Detail: By the end of the semester students will need to have submitted reports on the three field trips/guest speakers. After each field trip/guest speaker students will be required to submit a 1000-word response before the following class. Each field trip response must address the specific question provided in relation to the field trip, lecture and required readings. Students are expected to reference material correctly and should include three (3) additional references.

Assessment criteria: Relevant to the topic area, students will be assessed according to their ability to:

- Analyse the role of a variety of educational and institutional directives on the development of sport in Australia
- Critically analyse the relationship of sport to society and the construction of identities
- Present an analysis of the meanings of sport given by a cultural or population group
- Present a critique of their own understanding of the relationship between sport, nationalism, politics and policy
- Analyse relevant research material and communicate findings effectively in a written format.

GROUP PRESENTATION (20%) AND REPORT (30%)

Detail:

In groups of three students are to select a contemporary sport issue. Identify the key issues surrounding the debate, providing appropriate evidence (literature) to support any statements you make.

You should provide a critical examination of the issue and provide the audience with a series of questions and themes to consider. The report is to be 2,500 words long. The presentations are 15 minutes long.

Please see criteria below. Examples of debates include: comparative youth sport systems; drug use/alcohol in youth sport; ethics in sport such as doping and gambling; concussion in contact sports; sexuality and athletes going public; technology and sport.

Assessment criteria:

Depending on the option chosen for your presentation, you must be able to demonstrate achievement of the relevant outcome(s). All students are expected to demonstrate:

- An understanding of a particular topic through critical examination of relevant research material
- An ability to critically analyse the role sport, schools, national bodies, politics and/or individuals take in forming meanings of identity based on sexuality, gender, ability, nationality or race

ATTENDANCE POLICY

Students are expected to be on time and attend all classes while abroad. Many instructors assess both attendance and participation when assigning a final course grade. Attendance alone does not guarantee a positive participation grade; the student should be prepared for class and engage in class discussion. See the onsite syllabus for specific class requirements.

UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA POLICIES AND PROCEDURES

Academic integrity is essential to a positive teaching and learning environment. All students enrolled in University courses are expected to complete coursework responsibilities with fairness and honesty. Failure to do so by seeking unfair advantage over others or misrepresenting someone else's work as your own can result in disciplinary action. The University Student Conduct Code defines scholastic dishonesty as follows:

SCHOLASTIC DISHONESTY:

Scholastic dishonesty means plagiarizing; cheating on assignments or examinations; engaging in unauthorized collaboration on academic work; taking, acquiring, or using test materials without faculty permission; submitting false or incomplete records of academic achievement; acting alone or in cooperation with another to falsify records or to obtain dishonestly grades, honors, awards, or professional endorsement; altering forging, or misusing a University academic record; or fabricating or falsifying data, research procedures, or data analysis.

Within this course, a student responsible for scholastic dishonesty can be assigned a penalty up to and including an "F" or "N" for the course. If you have any questions regarding the expectations for a specific assignment or exam, ask.

STUDENT CONDUCT:

The University of Minnesota has specific policies concerning student conduct. This information can be found on the Learning Abroad Center website.
