Language of Instruction: Spanish
Contact Hours: 45 hours
Instructor: Onsite Faculty

Course Description

This course focuses on the art and architecture of Argentina. Learn about the different artistic movements in the country and visit museums, private art collections, and public monuments. The city becomes your classroom. At the same time, get a broader perspective of world art that serves as a background for a better understanding of the art and architectural scene in Argentina throughout the past 300 years.

Course Objectives

The main objective of the course is for the students to get to know the Argentine Art and Architecture from the beginning of its history until the current days, and to show the influence of foreign styles, mainly European, in local art.

Methodology

In class, students acquire knowledge about the subject that will be developed on site visits to monuments, museums, etc related to the topic. At the beginning of each class a review will be conducted. Students are expected to have read the corresponding bibliography for each class and to participate actively.

Required Reading / Materials

- Pacheco, Marcelo. “An approach to Social Realism in Argentine Art 1875 – 1945.”

Assessment Details

a) First half of the course (Aboriginal Population of Argentina BC to 19th century art and architecture): paper describing one of the sites or institutions visited during the course study. The paper must include an architectural description of the building/site (including historical references), purpose of the building (e.g. museum, church, government house, etc.) and its importance as a landmark. The paper will be graded considering the overall description, terminology, research as well as editing and grammar.

b) 20th century and contemporary art: brief written text, where the students will be asked to compare two different art pieces from two different preeminent Argentine masters. Students will also be provided with the images of those art pieces and given a half hour to write about them. Students will be asked to find differences and similarities in subject matter, concerns and styles. There will also be an interview for students to talk about their writing. Understanding of basic notions in terms of period, styles and artists’ concerns as a reflection of events of the times will be key. The right use of the arts vocabulary and jargon will also be in serious consideration, and students will be made aware of this during the course.

FINAL EXAM
Policies

Attendance Policy
Students are expected to be on time and attend all classes while abroad. Many instructors assess both attendance and participation when assigning a final course grade. Attendance alone does not guarantee a positive participation grade; the student should be prepared for class and engage in class discussion. See the on-site syllabus for specific class requirements.

University of Minnesota Policies & Procedures
Academic integrity is essential to a positive teaching and learning environment. All students enrolled in University courses are expected to complete coursework responsibilities with fairness and honesty. Failure to do so by seeking unfair advantage over others or misrepresenting someone else's work as your own can result in disciplinary action. The University Student Conduct Code defines scholastic dishonesty as follows:

Scholastic Dishonesty
Scholastic dishonesty means plagiarizing; cheating on assignments or examinations; engaging in unauthorized collaboration on academic work; taking, acquiring, or using test materials without faculty permission; submitting false or incomplete records of academic achievement; acting alone or in cooperation with another to falsify records or to obtain dishonestly grades, honors, awards, or professional endorsement; altering forging, or misusing a University academic record; or fabricating or falsifying data, research procedures, or data analysis.

Within this course, a student responsible for scholastic dishonesty can be assigned a penalty up to and including an “F” or “N” for the course. If you have any questions regarding the expectations for a specific assignment or exam, ask.

Student Conduct
The University of Minnesota has specific policies concerning student conduct. This information can be found on the Learning Abroad Center website.
