Course Description

This course provides undergraduate students with the critical understanding of the theories, concepts, knowledge, and skills for managers in commercialized and community-based sports in the Australian context. The course considers the ranges of challenges facing the 21st-Century sports manager, including a complex sociocultural environment, competitive business markets, managing a range of key stakeholders, the future of sports management, and strategic planning to meet future sporting organizations' objectives. The course also evaluates how public policy, sport governance, and legislative requirements impact on the management of sporting organizations. Finally, the course examines the wider social utility of sport in Australia, such as its role in community and the forming of national identity, as an opportunity for social improvement and general community well-being.

Course Objectives

On completion of this course, students will be able to:

1. Apply key theories and concepts of sports management in Australia in the 21st Century, including the business of sport, commercial and sustainability imperatives, socio-cultural environments, current trends in sport management, and the impact on Australian culture formation.
2. Recognize and evaluate contemporary sports management issues and apply management models and techniques to develop relevant and innovative solutions.
3. Demonstrate an understanding of current managerial and commercial imperatives in the running of sport as a business, applying critical and analytical thinking to real-world scenarios.
4. Gain an appreciation of the role of sport in the development of the Australian culture and identity, as well as consideration of current cultural issues to be considered in Australian sports management

Methodology

This course follows a weekly face-to-face seminar based structure in class. During the seminar, lecture material will be delivered with case studies used in written and video format as a point of group class discussion. This will highlight major concepts and theories to be applied to current real world situations. Guest speakers with practical specialized knowledge will attend the seminar to deliver presentations. Field trips will allow students to experience Australian sporting organizations in context, meet members of sports organizations to hear and ask first hand questions. The online platform CAPA Canvas will supplement learning with printed and video learning materials and resources. Canvas will be used to foster online interaction and discussion between students, staff and guest presenters.

Assessment Details

Mid Term Case Study Report 25%

An individual based assessment will be completed during the middle of the term. This will require students to answer a case study completing a report, applying sports management theory and concepts covered in the first half of the course. This is an individual assessment, with the report 1,500 words long.

Group Report 45% (Presentation Is 15%; Text Is 30%)

In the final weeks of the course, a group report and presentation will be completed by students. In groups of 3, students will provide a Sports Management Report based on a particular management problem, applying theory, models and concepts to analyze and provide recommendations to sporting organizations. The report will be 2,500 words long following a pre-determined structure provided to the students, worth 25%. The students will deliver a group presentation of their analysis, findings and recommendations to the class for the duration of 15 minutes, worth 10%.

Final Exam 30%

During the exam period, students will complete a final exam of 2 hours duration. The questions will be long essay answer and a case study based on the material covered in the second half of the course. The questions will be based on the topics related to the field trips and guest speakers during the course.

Attendance Policy

Students are expected to be on time and attend all classes while abroad. Many instructors assess both attendance and participation when assigning a final course grade. Attendance alone does not guarantee a positive participation grade; the student should be prepared for class and engage in class discussion. See the on-site syllabus for specific class requirements.

University of Minnesota Policies & Procedures

Academic integrity is essential to a positive teaching and learning environment. All students enrolled in University courses are expected to complete coursework responsibilities with fairness and honesty. Failure to do so by seeking unfair advantage over others or misrepresenting someone else’s work as your own can result in disciplinary action. The University Student Conduct Code defines scholastic dishonesty as follows:

Scholastic Dishonesty

Scholastic dishonesty means plagiarizing; cheating on assignments or examinations; engaging in unauthorized collaboration on academic work; taking, acquiring, or using test materials without faculty permission; submitting false or incomplete records of academic achievement; acting alone or in cooperation with another to falsify records or to obtain dishonestly grades, honors, awards, or professional endorsement; altering forging, or misusing a University academic record; or fabricating or falsifying data, research procedures, or data analysis.

Within this course, a student responsible for scholastic dishonesty can be assigned a penalty up to and including an “F” or “N” for the course. If you have any questions regarding the expectations for a specific assignment or exam, ask.

Student Conduct

The University of Minnesota has specific policies concerning student conduct. This information can be found on the Learning Abroad Center website.
