

Politics and Society in Latin America

Course Details

Course Designator & Number: TLDO 3235

Number of Credits: 3

Language of Instruction: Spanish

Contact Hours: 45 hours

Instructor: TBD

Course Description

The Latin American reality includes vast natural and human spaces. This course is thought of as a journey through the cultural, historical, and geographic diversity of the continent, rather than a monographic course of countries or concrete spaces. Such an approach would fail to take account of all of the distinctive features of the countries to be studied.

Course Objective

The objective of this introductory course is to familiarize the students with realities, processes, and forms of logic very distinct from those they would find in their places of origin and to encourage the students to develop their critical capacity so that through studying these differences they may evaluate their own cultural realities.

Methodology

This course will be taught through lecture and discussion. Students are expected to come to class prepared, having read the assigned reading. At least once during the semester, students will be required to give an exposition of the assigned reading, which will receive a grade. In addition to time in the classroom, students will also go on two visits to the Museo de las Americas and will write a three-page report based on those visits.

Course Prerequisites

Spanish 1004

Required Reading / Materials

Alain Rouquie, América Latina. Introducción al Extremo Occidente, México, Siglo XXI, 1989.

Nancy Scheper-Hughes, La muerte sin llanto. Violencia y vida cotidiana en Brasil, Barcelona, Ariel, 1997

Policies

Attendance Policy

Regular attendance and punctuality are mandatory in order to earn full marks. The final grade will take into consideration preparation required for class (i.e. readings) and participation in class discussions. If you miss any meetings without an excused absence from the on-site director, your final grade will be dropped accordingly. In the case of absences, it is the student's responsibility to find out what information was given in class including any announcements made.

University of Minnesota Policies & Procedures

Academic integrity is essential to a positive teaching and learning environment. All students enrolled in University courses are expected to complete coursework responsibilities with fairness and honesty. Failure to do so by seeking unfair advantage over others or misrepresenting someone else's work as your own, can result in disciplinary action. The University Student Conduct Code defines scholastic dishonesty as follows:

Scholastic Dishonesty

Scholastic dishonesty means plagiarizing; cheating on assignments or examinations; engaging in unauthorized collaboration on academic work; taking, acquiring, or using test materials without faculty permission; submitting false or incomplete records of academic achievement; acting alone or in cooperation with another to falsify records or to obtain dishonestly grades, honors, awards, or professional endorsement; altering forging, or misusing a University academic record; or fabricating or falsifying data, research procedures, or data analysis.

Within this course, a student responsible for scholastic dishonesty can be assigned a penalty up to and including an "F" or "N" for the course. If you have any questions regarding the expectations for a specific assignment or exam, ask.

Student Conduct

The University of Minnesota has specific policies concerning student conduct and student needs. This information can be found on the Learning Abroad Center website.
